SOLVE ALL

SERVICES

Along with globalization, price pressure is increasing, and businesses are forced to cut their production costs dramatically. Savings can be mainly reached in the fields of purchases and process optimization. Our goal is to maintain, or even improve, the quantity and not reduce the products' quality while still keeping costs low.

Large enterprises often have their import departments maintaining their networks worldwide. For SME's, however, searching for new purchase channels is time-consuming and costly. Language barriers and a lack of trust in foreign suppliers pose additional difficulties.

Here, SPIS plays an important role. We are in touch with businesses worldwide and can take advantage of domestic knowledge and partnerships. This way, synergies are optimized, saving time and money in favour of our customers.
